Under present business scenario, maintenance is emerging as an important part of the strategic thinking for the organization. Managing CORRECT information is important to enhance the effectiveness of maintenance process. Right information in right time facilitate easy and correct decision making safety and compliance risk based approach.

Decision making for anticipated replacement of assets should be based on accurate information on their conditions, ensuring through analysis and diagnosis the best return on invested capital, improved operating performance, and lower risks to the organization.

The management of physical assets results in a clear policy of renewing assets that must be replaced not only when they are irreparably damaged, but also when:

- Maintenance data quality diagnostic.
- Formal risk assessment -> SCE bridging-> verification of PS.
- Optimized PM/PdM procedures.
- Inventory compliance and optimization.
- Planning, Acquisition, O&M, Disposal.
